“ I don't have one specific story to tell about my brother, Dalton. I can just say that he was always the one that could make you laugh, tell you something interesting, or show you how to just enjoy life. And he loved his family. Who would have thought that fun-loving, crazy high school guy would someday commit so completely to his family! I especially value and treasure all the time I've had with him over the past year or so.

Love you, DaltGod Bless
