“ Dear Kathy, I'm so sorry to learn you've lost your brave battle! I do know that our world has gained a beautiful angel! Your courage, determination and love for your family was an incredible vision each and every day. I read your Facebook posts with tears and smiles always praying for your strength to see you through. You are soaring now, with wings you earned. Rest, and know you are remembered with fondness and love.

“ Kathy,
You are and will forever have a place in my heart. I can see your face as clear as day and hear your voice in my head. As kids we were lucky you were there for all of your boy's many friends. You loved us and you took care of us. I know you will be greatly missed by all the people who have had the privilege of knowing you. May you rest easy and continue to guide your family from above. All my love and strength to your family. Dana McLean (Pierri)

“ Dearest Kathy,..... What can anyone say but "thank you" for being here with us as long as you were able to. This New Year's eve I will send my memory balloons up to the stars and I know God will lead mine to your's. It surely will be the brightest one in the nights' sky. Im sure. Thank you for all the help and fun we shared doing our fund raiser for also a fellow cancer survivor who worked along side with you at Ormc. It was one of your times you helped so many others and not worrying about yourself. God's speed my friend, Your wings are well earned. xoxo kat siebold

“ Dearest Kathy,
What can anyone say but thank you for being here with us as long as you were able to. being from Ormc and sharing the nursing career and all that was with it. This New Year's eve I will send my balloons up to the stars and I know God will lead mine to you. Because your star will be the brightest one in the night 's sky. Thank you for your help in other people's fund raising. It was just one of your times you helped so many others and not yourself. God's speed my friend, your wings are well earned . xoxo kat siebold

“ Kathy,
Such an inspiration, and a true warrior. You fought so hard to beat this! I will always remember you as a nurse who truly was a teacher and great co-worker, but also a friend. You have earned your angel wings, and are finally at "peace." Keep an eye on all of us, and give us a "kick" if we need it!
To Mark, and Kathy's children and family, we were all very lucky to have Kathy as a wife, mother, grandmother and friend. She will be truly missed, but oh so loved. I hope you are resting peacefully Kathy.
