Mother Earth ~ Father Sky ~ The Great Spirit ~Whispers within us.
When I look out across our beautiful Emerald Lakes, I will continue to love the memories of those souls that have gone before me. Our little piece of the universe, where our souls touch and influence those around us ~ we shared in the here and the now. The happy ,wonderous times that our families have shared. Our children growing together, and now our grandchildren share in this beautiful place we call home~ Emerald Lakes.
Our love of community brought us together and I was blessed to have shared in your shining light my friend. I will be missing you...

Gini. your laughter will live on in all that you have touched.
Thank you kindly my friend, for your part in my life journey.
